UNO Successfully Settles Britain-Soviet-Greek Crisis

By ROSS MUNRO

Continue Planning Naval Atom Bombs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The 50th Composite Group of the United States Army Air Forces which dropped the atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki will repeat the performance on the target yards at Bikini Atoll next May. The group, with about half the personnel of its war time organization, is undergoing special training for the test.

A B-29 Superfortress, the type used for the Nagasaki and Hiroshima attacks, will carry the bomb over the anchored target ships in the lagoon at Bikini Atoll, according to present plans.

Explosion of the test bomb over the ocean may produce some entirely new results in the air. Airplane crews may have to be alert for an enormous cloud of radioactive steam rising up into the air. Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blundy, commander of the Joint Army-Navy task force, said in a broadcast interview last night that both the Army Air Forces and the Navy Air Service would send up radio-controlled pilotless planes to fly close into the explosion and get samples of the cloud.

W. Jasper Place Amalgamation Under Review

The finance committee of city council, Wednesday decided to recommend to city council that the city work with residents of the West Jasper Place district to secure provincial and Dominion assistance in the solution of the health and school problems facing the district.

This recommendation was made when the committee was considering an application from residents of West Jasper Place for incorporation in the City of Edmonton.

The committee recommended also that City Solicitor T. E. Garfield, K.C., draft a resolution for submission to city council seeking passage by the provincial legislature of an enactment which would prohibit the sub-division of areas adjacent to municipalities without obtaining the permission of the municipality concerned, and also of the provincial government.

The resolution is designed to prevent a repetition of further settlements similar to West Jasper Place on the outskirts of the city. A spokesman for residents told committee members that an official of the department of municipalities had informed him the government would implement legislation along the lines suggested in the resolution.

A brief was submitted to the committee by residents of the district in which it was pointed out that conditions in the area as they exist today were a health menace to the City of Edmonton.

The Taxpayers' Protective Association of Edmonton submitted a brief supporting the association's opposition to the proposed amalgamation.

IN THIS BRIEF it was stated that the absorption of the district into the city would be a health menace to the City of Edmonton.

Palestine Said Most Important World Question

"The problem of Palestine provides one of the most important world questions today, and yet as between Arabs and Jews the Canadian public hears only the Zionist side," said Norman Jaques, M.P. Wexham, speaking Wednesday night to an audience mostly of Arabs and Canadians of Arab descent at a dinner of home at a dinner tendered him by the local branch of the Canadian Arab Friendship League, and attended by the almost 150 Arabs and a few guests, at the Macdonald hotel.

"Before the last war," said Mr. Jaques, "the nations had faith in Britain's word, but to more, and the main reason is that Britain is largely dominated by Zionists and their gentile backers."

The speaker was introduced by A. Shaver, who read a telegram from the general secretary at Montreal, M. S. Massoud, wishing the meeting success and extending the league's respects to Mr. Jaques. A. Shaver moved a vote of thanks. Chairman of the evening was T. F. Shaker.

"I have no brief," said Mr. Jaques, "either for Arabs or Jews; but for the good government of Palestine and the preservation of the British Empire, for those are bound up with the freedom of all people."

He recalled that the Balfour Declaration offered "a home" in Palestine for Jews, but without prejudice to non-Jewish inhabitants. He said that in Palestine, Mr. Shaver had received a pamphlet from the Canadian Palestine committee, of which Sir Elsworth Fawcett and Herbert Mowat are members. He said that Mr. Jaques had asked for more information. Mr. Mowat replied that "our committee" represents the United Nations policy for Palestine "to which the Arabs will be forced to adjust themselves."

If so, he said, Canada as a subscriber to the United Nations, would be bound by any decision to expel Arabs from Palestine.

Food Situation

country about the length and breadth of here to Laocome, which is supposed to contain all the Jews. Having been informed by a leading Arab spokesman that many Arabs were Christianized before anyone in Europe, he could not understand why so many Christians were so eager to hand Palestine over to Jews.

HE SUGGESTED reasons why Jews were eager to set up a commonwealth in Palestine (1) The power and prestige which would accrue to having taken their Holy Land from Christians and Arabs and converted it into the capital of the Jewish world; (2) Palestine divides Asia from Africa, and (3) the Suez canal, the British Empire's lifeline to the Far East; (4) The pipe lines of the Arabian oilfields pass through it on their way to the sea, and (5) The in calculable military wealth of the Dead Sea.

Quoting recent figures to the effect that more Europeans had died of starvation since V-E day than during six years of war, the speaker blamed the Morgenstern plan for having reduced the standard of living to this level, thus forcing Jews to leave Europe with Palestine as their intended destination. He added that Morgenstern was also the author of the Bretton Woods plan.

OPENING THE MEETING, Mr. Shaker declared Arabs do not advocate a Jewish state, but a right derived from ancestors who lived there long before the Jews came and after the Jews left. Dismissing the Jewish claim to the fulfillment of a prophetic promise, Mr. Shaker recalled that the promise was only of Canada, a tract of territory "about the size of a good-sized Alberta municipality."

"That promise was fulfilled," he went on, "but years after the Jews left it voluntarily. It is to be renewed every time the Jews want to come back."

He recalled that the father of all Gentiles was cheated of his birthright by the father of all Jews, and modern civilization condones that theft.

The AHEAD

by Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

YESTERDAY I criticized the decision of the government to raise the peacetime reserve army by engaging men on a voluntary basis. Today I want to outline the manner in which I believe our armed forces should be raised, both for peace and war. It is a system which, I believe, fair to all, and far more satisfactory than the one proposed.

Saw Today

I KNOW that there are many people who are opposed to compulsory military training in peacetime, there are many who are violently opposed to military service even in time of war. If there are a majority of people in this country who hold that opinion then I believe that no government has the right to involve this country in any military commitment, no right to declare war, no right to consider or get involved in a war. It is not right or just to allow ourselves to enjoy security, prosperity and safety which is bought with the lives of those who happen to have a direct sense of social obligation.

The fair and proper way to raise our armed forces is to have continuing conscription. Every male member of the population, on reaching the age of 18 years, is required to report to his nearest military depot for one or two years training, depending on the size of the war we intend to maintain.

IN REPORTING HE WOULD be given examinations of various kinds, including physical, mental, Continued on Page Sixteen

Says Rotary Plow Required For Snow

No useful purpose would be served by the use of bulldozers and blade scrapers on the heavy blocked Cochrane-Calgary road, according to Hon. A. A. Peller, minister of public works.

"TRUCKS could use the road, but in heavy snow conditions they would be stuck in the drifts," the minister said, commenting on pictures of such machinery which had appeared in a Calgary newspaper as idle machinery which could be used to break the snow blockade into Cochrane.

The only means of clearing the roads properly would be by means of a rotary snow plow, the minister declared, but even this method created a "perfect snow trap" for the cars on the wrong side of the road, he said.

THERE HAD BEEN an unusual fall of dry snow in that area this season with the result that the slightest breeze started the formation of drifts.

The government has never at any time undertaken to remove snow from municipal and district roads, he said, but has permitted it, assistance has been rendered in urgent cases.

ROAD REPORTS

Roads drifted at Athabasca; very heavy at Slave Lake, Paul, Spirit River, Beaverdam, Dawson Creek, Fort St. John; drifting at Lac la Poudre, Peace River, Peace River, Edson, Hardhead, Wainwright, Camrose and Thorsby.

Alberta Motor Association

The AMA serves you every day. Walk on the Wrong Side For Safety.

If there isn't any sidewalk available then you will have to walk on the roadway, and for safety's sake walk on the wrong side of the road—against the traffic, so that you can see it and the drivers can see you.

At Stewardship Meeting

Mayor Places Unemployment Problem on Ottawa Doorstep

First of the meetings called for reports to electors of stewardship given by successful candidates of the Civic Democratic Alliance in last November's civic elections heard Mayor Harry D. Ainlay throw the city's growing unemployment problem directly into the lap of the federal government. He was answering the brief interrogation, "Is there any work in the city?"

Island Governor

"I REMEMBER WELL that you elected a government last year which went into power with the slogan that it would be jobs for all," replied the mayor.

He told his questioner that he realized the situation was "pressing," and that every day he was called upon by persons seeking work, "many of whom are our returned servicemen."

"I have been able to find jobs for some, but there are not enough jobs in sufficient variety to be suitable or compatible to those who require them."

THE MAYOR expressed sympathy with the man who was looking for work, but reminded the audience of about 50 persons that the federal government was in the employment business, which was something he had advanced as a feature of their virtue prior to the election.

"We have jobs in this city, but I frankly state they are mostly in light drudgery," said the mayor.

"I do not like to put a man on a job which is not his," he said, explaining that previously only property owners were eligible for reduction in tax levies.

THE CDA COUNCIL members were pressing for a reduction in electric light rates.

The mayor said he would be attending a meeting of officials representing the company supplying Edmonton with gas, "and I am confident a cut will be made in the prices."

To a question about the number of houses under construction, the mayor said there were still 700 unfinishes, but that work was proceeding as quickly as material.

He said that the city was confident there will be over 2,000 houses under construction under the federal plan and private schemes in the future.

HE REVIEWED the situation affecting transportation to outlying districts following a complaint about service to the H. A. Gray district. The district was mapped out for improvement, he said, but he did not expect it could be done this year.

He explained that concrete and other essential materials were in short supply under present circumstances, adding that if the council would demand public ownership of certain essential construction services there would be a speeding of improvements for the city.

Another questioner returned the meeting to the problem of employment. He spoke of discrimination in civil service jobs.

MAYOR AINLAY charged that it was the wrong attitude to look upon the other fellow's job as "better" and that such a view was relieving the federal government of the responsibility of living up to their pledges. It was now up to the people to hold the King administration to its election and post-election promises.

A letter requesting the city council to decide what was going to be done with the city's small quota of Japanese had been tabled, replied the mayor to another member of the audience. Action on this question was outside the sphere of the city.

The mayor answered several other questions to the apparent satisfaction of the audience, which applauded him from time to time.

The mayor said the transportation program for the year was almost double that of last year, but due to the shortage of materials there was doubt that it would be carried out to completion.

HE HAD ALWAYS ardently supported extension of transportation services to outlying districts, but as a result there would be some, he said, that would not come into the 1946 program, principally Riverdale and Watersdale. Districts would be considered according to their zone rating. He said the Civic Democratic Alliance had always mooted bus lines for outlying districts but that opponents in the council objected to starting any bus line on roads not scheduled for paving. This view, he said, he always opposed.

Air view of fire in Charleston, W. Va., which was fanned by strong wind and destroyed an entire block of warehouses, office buildings and stores. Blast spread to one of city's largest hotels, driving its patrons into streets. Fire departments from communities outside Charleston were called in to help battle blaze in freezing weather. Damage to buildings alone total $1,000,000, and no estimate was put on their contents. No deaths or injuries were reported.

GIVE OUR BOYS A PLACE TO LIVE

"I'm worried about Otto—the boss gave him 'til Saturday to convert himself into the 'human atom bomb'!"

A member of the town planning and health committees, Mrs. Browne said, "We haven't anything like the housing we need for this city."

She referred to the housing construction already accumulated but added, "We still need about 2,000 houses immediately."

She said she was impressed with proposals of the home and school recreation program, just established in the city. There was need of much attention to the juvenile delinquency problem, and although many excellent organizations were doing all they could there was a constant problem in the recidivist juvenile delinquent.

SHE HELD OUT hope of greater progress along these lines and recommended the Sunday broadcast of Mayor Ainlay, which she termed "very instructive."

Predicting that a condition of improvement in education would have to evolve, Mrs. E. S. Haynes, CDA member of the school board, said the service of education should be free to all and should give equal educational opportunity to all.

She had made it her business to visit the schools regularly and her findings were sometimes disappointing. Eastwood school was more than ordinarily overcrowded and worked hardship on the pupils. Many schools have been improved considerably in the past number of months, but she deplored the ventilation at Nichols school and also at Westgate.

SHE SCORED the crowded condition of classrooms and little had been spent on redecoration.

Greater portion of the year's budget was earmarked for maintenance, heating and general repair, "because the buildings have been left so long without attention," said Mrs. Haynes.

After giving a lengthy account of improvements pending and suggested, Mrs. Haynes brought up a place when she criticized the low pay of teachers.

Quoting George Bernard Shaw, she said, "those who can do, those who can't, teach."

It was from this sharp maxim that the truth of the teacher situation applied. The salaries were not sufficiently attractive to draw those more interested and talented into the profession, consequently not only the teacher but the quality of education tended to drop under these conditions.

"NATURAL," SHE ADDED, "the standard of teaching in Edmonton schools has been high." Her remark drew applause.

Among the principal requirements for the schools was a $5,000 building program.

She said she intended to "fight every step of the way" for the things Edmonton's schools needed. Archie Allen, president of the CDA, spoke briefly to the audience, reminding them they should turn out in greater numbers. He said this was the first meeting of the organization since the election in November.

Gasoline Boost Removes Parity On Farm Prices

SASKATCHEWAN, Nov. 7.—(CP)—An increase of two cents a gallon in the price of farm motor fuel would increase production costs of wheat by about two cents a bushel, George Bickerton, research director, United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, said yesterday, expressing a protest of his organization against the price rise in gasoline.

"We would throw the farmers' position out of line with parity," Mr. Bickerton said. "We are at a fair parity now."

The recent UFC convention here protested the proposed increase and asked that if the price increase was imposed the three cents a gallon war tax on gasoline be removed.

He said, "those who can do, those who can't, teach."

It was from this sharp maxim that the truth of the teacher situation applied. The salaries were not sufficiently attractive to draw those more interested and talented into the profession, consequently not only the teacher but the quality of education tended to drop under these conditions.

Musicians Request Grant For Concerts

Requests from the Edmonton Musicians' Protective Association for a grant of $4,000 for the provision of band concerts in Borden Park and Queen Elizabeth Park each Sunday during June, July and August, and on the civic centre near the American Red Cross hut on Wednesday and Saturday evening during these months was laid over by the city council's finance committee until 1948 estimates are being considered.

The commissioners were instructed to bring in a report on the salary and other facilities available at the parks for the accommodation of the large crowds attending the concerts.

MAYOR HARRY AINLAY said committee members that he had received numerous complaints regarding the lack of proper facilities at Borden and Queen Elizabeth parks.

He said that to provide band concerts and not make proper provision for the comfort of those attending them would give the city administration a "bad name." He made it clear that he favored the provision of band concerts and other recreational facilities, and was prepared to support entertainment features that would get people out to the city's parks and beauty spots.

Ald. A. Blisset, K.C., asked H. G. Turner, secretary of the Edmonton Musicians' Protective Association, if the provision of band concerts would tend to improve the quality of the performances given by the city's musicians. Mr. Turner answered him that the concerts would be a decided asset in the development of bands, and would be a means of attracting the city's youth to the active participation in the concerts.

Thousands of Alberta's returned veterans are homeless and desperately in need of living accommodation. In this emergency, the goodwill of citizens can assist greatly in providing space for these young Canadians who braved hardship and peril on the battlefronts of the world to defeat the enemies of Freedom. But for their unselfish response to duty, the enemy might well be billeting troops by force in your home today.

Face the issue honestly!... Can you begrudge the slight inconvenience it will cause you to rent one or two rooms at a fair rental—TO SOME DESERVING VETERAN?

Hears Merit of Basic English

By BERT NORTINGALE
While there are 500 words available for general use in the English language, only 500 of them are required to read the non-English speaking man, woman and child sufficient command of his tongue to read 85 per cent of the editorial content of the average Canadian newspaper.

AND TO REACH the point where he can read a Canadian newspaper, your new Canadian needs as little as four weeks' study of a course in English which is the absorbing interest of a visitor here from Regina. She is Miss M. Florence Gaylor, supervisor of basic English in the township program of the adult education division, Saskatchewan department of education.

A former school teacher, private secretary with the federal department of national defence and supervising stenographer for Regina firm, Miss Gaylor, trim and lively, bubbling over with enthusiasm for the basic English work she has carried on since last July, was pleased today to include in her "holiday" literary class in basic English the adult education series being conducted currently at Parkdale school.

WEDNESDAY EVENING she explained basic English to a group of students who have been studying English here under the tutelage of Mrs. Murray Macdonald. The visit followed a period of correspondence between Miss Gaylor and Mrs. Macdonald and Leonard Berruau, adult education chief here.

Miss Gaylor traces the development of basic English back to 1920 when it was discovered, Dr. C. K. Ogden of the Orthological Institute at Cambridge University, together with Dr. I. A. Richards, an associate, completed the first 100 words after ten years' exhaustive study.

Here's how the experts have compiled their list: There are 16 verbs, the "come," "go," "live," "travel," "will." In the noun classification, nouns are called things under the "BE" system; there are 200 pictured things which can be seen, and 400 general or abstract nouns, like "conscience" or "democracy." There are 100 adjectives and 50 opposites and "black" would be an adjective and "white" an opposite. Finally there are 100 "operations" such as "bead," "alter," "with" and other verbs, pronouns and prepositions.

LITERALLY, Miss Gaylor says, basic English is language within a language. That its value is recognized is seen in the "Builder" given it by Winston Churchill, former prime minister of Britain, when he boasted it at an international language in an address at Harvard University in 1944.

His proposals have gone so far as to prepare 150 books, including the New Testament, in basic English and Shakespeare's Julius Caesar, all designed to provide instruction with reading matter for students during their learning period.

BEFORE THE war, 20 different countries were teaching the English language during the war, the British Broadcasting Corporation and American broadcasting companies sent radio messages to the European underground, using only basic English. An American oil firm located in the Dutch West Indies used basic English to teach their native employees with a high degree of success.

And in Soviet Russia, Madame Kalinin, wife of the co-ordinator of the USSR ambassador to the United States, presented the Russian Basic English textbook.

One of the reasons for its success, according to its originator, lies in the fact that every word used is a "covering" word, one that covers many things. For instance, "chair" is not included in the list. "A chair" is not a chair, it is a "chair" anywhere and use the expression in countless situations. Try "taking a chair"—it is not as easy as "take a chair" on a desk as it is to "take a seat" on a desk.

THE GREATEST Canadian achievement in basic English, Miss Gaylor says, is that it is a language that can be used by all.

To Develop Playgrounds

City Recreation Commission Requests $37,000 for 1946

Edmonton's Recreation Commission Wednesday submitted the finance committee a budget covering the 1946 playground and recreational program, calling for expenditures totalling $37,000.

THIS PROGRAM calls for the development of five playgrounds, provision of standard equipment, and supervision; the installation of flood lighting at Kingsway football park, and provision of three additional diamonds. The budget includes items for payment of the city supervisor's and stenographer's salaries, administration expenses, transportation and leadership training expenses and grants to organizations, and the provision of band concerts during the summer months.

The 1946 proposed program is the first of a plan which will during the next 15 years provide 30 fully equipped playgrounds, four youth recreation centres, and a civic centre consisting of such units as a civic auditorium, sports stadium, hockey arena, botanical gardens, and other units.

As the commission's budget was presented to finance committee members for the first time on Wednesday, it was decided to leave consideration of the submission until the next regular meeting of the committee.

THE 1946 PROPOSALS include: Levelling and grading of the property now leased to the Ritchie Community League at a cost of $700, the provision of standard equipment costing $1,200, and the provision of supervision and operation costs, $2,000, for a total of $3,900.

The development of Boyle street playground, now owned by the Edmonton Public School Board, it is proposed to place a low wire fence around these grounds at a cost of $600, and to provide standard equipment costing $1,200, and also to pay supervision and operational costs which are estimated at $2,000. Total for this project is $3,800.

Also proposed for this year is the development of a playground in the west and southerly portions of Borden Park similar to that proposed in the Ritchie district, the cost of which would be $3,800 for youth construction, creative interest, provision of equipment, and the provision of supervision and operational costs.

IF THIS PROJECT is approved, it is suggested that the Crowsfoot and Belvedere community leagues be moved to this location.

The commission also recommends the provision of a playground at 120 avenue and 101 street. The playground was levelled last year, and it is proposed this year to install standard equipment costing $1,200 and to provide the supervision and operational expenditure which are placed at $2,000.

Development of the property at 103 and 104 streets, between 116 and 119 streets, now leased to the Oliver community league also is recommended. Cost of this project is set at $2,600, of which $600 is for grading of the sports field, $2,000 for supervision and operation, standard equipment has been supplied at this playground by the City club.

IT IS RECOMMENDED also that preparatory work be done this year toward the development of playgrounds at Colden, Jasper, Plain Forest Heights, Highlands, Cloverdale, McKernan Lake, and Bonnie Doon. The properties on which the development is proposed are all leased to district community leagues. It is proposed also to develop a playground in the Eastwood district on a site to be determined. It was pointed out in the commission's report that the present playground in this area is not large enough.

The commission in its report states that it is a good and right for the city to develop a playground in the Eastwood district on a site to be determined. It was pointed out in the commission's report that the present playground in this area is not large enough.

By IMPOSING on all an equal sacrifice it would not work injustice on anyone. It would prevent the artificial distinctions that tend to be raised between veterans and non-veterans. It would abolish all the ills we have seen arise under the voluntary system of recruiting. It is the only sensible and fair answer to our defence problem.

KICKIN' AROUND by Wally Falk

THESE WHO REMAINED in the "active force" would be trained and educated so that if the need arose, they would be capable of taking the "raucous" of command and the "active army."

Such a system would do more than insure a sufficient number of trained men to meet each and every emergency. By forcing men from all walks of life to live together in under common living conditions and discipline, it would help to remove the misunderstanding that one finds so often not only between people from different parts of the Dominion, but from different social and financial strata.

IT WOULD impress upon all men their responsibilities as citizens. It would make them realize that no man can exist as an individual, it would teach them their rights and their responsibilities, but would impress upon them their common responsibilities to the community.

It would help to make all men realize that they are all citizens, that what is good and right for one is good and right for all.
